

NJ-AACE Dinner Program

December 5, 2018

Treating the Middle-aged and Older Patient with CAH

Presented by:

Adrian Sandra Dobs, MD MHS

Director, Johns Hopkins Clinical Research Network

Professor of Medicine and Oncology

The Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine

Division of Endocrinology, Diabetes and Metabolism

Date: Wednesday, December 5, 2018

Location: Grand Café
42 Washington St
Morristown, NJ 07960
973-540-9444

Time: 6:00 – 7:00pm Social Hour
7:00 – 8:00pm Dinner w/ Program

Objectives:

1. Understand the pathophysiology of congenital adrenal hyperplasia
2. Formulate a treatment plan for patients
3. Discuss possible complications of treatment for congenital adrenal hyperplasia

Disclaimer:

The material presented during the New Jersey Chapter of AACE dinner program is being made available by the New Jersey Chapter of AACE for educational purposes only, and does not necessarily represent the only or best method or procedure appropriate for the medical situations discussed. The opinions and views expressed represent the opinions of the presenters and not necessarily those of the New Jersey Chapter of AACE, AACE, or its governing body. Therefore, the New Jersey Chapter of AACE and AACE disclaim any and all liability for injury or other damages resulting to an individual attending this meeting or to any third party for claims based upon the use of techniques and/or products presented by any party at this meeting.

Accreditation Statement:

The American Association of Clinical Endocrinologists (AACE) is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians.